

My family and I listen constantly to the K-Love radio station, which is a part of a translator network. We also have a local Christian radio station that we listen to occasionally, but KLOVE offers a broader range of services that encompass the national spectrum and that reach a younger audience. Without K-Love, we wouldn't be able to provide our family with the type of messages and music we so strongly believe in as an alternative to some of the secular messages that promote underage drinking, drug use and promiscuity. We do hope that you'll continue to allow this positive alternative exist for our family, as well as the many listeners in Sioux Falls, SD.
